

Jeff Stockton

Jeff Stockton is the President and Owner of AccuWorks, a premier property restoration firm providing full-service emergency mitigation, remediation, and reconstruction focused exclusively of damaged commercial and residential properties in Middle Tennessee. With 20 years of dedicated leadership in property damage response and restoration management, Jeff and AccuWorks have guided thousands of homeowners, community managers, and HOA boards through the high-stakes aftermath of fires, severe storms, and major water losses. Jeff's company specializes in bridging the gap between technical project execution and the intricacies of insurance coordination, ensuring the highest level of professionalism and industry leading service that streamlines the claims process. As an active partner to CAI Tennessee for the past 15 years, AccuWorks brings a practical, solutions-driven perspective to today's discussion on successfully executing disaster recovery projects while protecting your community's interests.